DEMOCRATS WORRIED ABOUT THEIR FUTURE

3RD SUCCESSIVE DEFEAT FOR PARTY AND ITS WORST

HOOVER GAINS MORE ELECTORAL VOTES THAN DID
WILSON

BOTH HOOVER AND SMITH POLL-ED TREMENDOUS POPULAR VOTE

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Nov. 8.—This election has brought the democratic party face to face with the problem of what its future is to be.

This is the third successive defeat for the party and its worst. Returns by the United Press show Herbert Hoover with 444 electoral votes, passing even the record of Wilson who received 435, due to the republican split between Taft and Roosevelt. Smith is shown with only 87 votes, the lowest of any democratic presidential nominee and ranking next to the historic eight votes of Taft in 1912 for the consolation prize of presidential politics.

The popular vote, tabulated at 1 P. M. by the United Press showed: Hoover, 20,015,475.
Smith, 14,000,138.

Hoover plurality, 6,015,337.
The democratic candidate carried only eight states—Massachusetts, Rhode Island and the closely grouped southern states of Georgia, South Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas.

Hoover had all the others. He had carried the major portion of the industrial east, all of the agricultural west, and a large part of the heretofore "solid south."

The democratic party's national ticket, though bolstered with a vice-presidential candidate from the solid south, lost four of those supposedly impregnable states which had been democratic since reconstruction days. It carried only two states outside of the south—Massachusetts and Rhode Island which apparently were carried by Smith due to a combination of Catholic, wet and foreign population.

All of this defeat came in face of the fact that Smith reversed the historic policy of his party on the tariff and lined it up abreast of the republicans on the issue of protection.

Governor Smith made his chief appeal to the business interests of the east and to the farm belt of the west. By ignoring sentiment in the south, Smith lost Florida, Virginia, Texas and North Carolina.

It is a dismal outlook for the defeated democratic leaders who must now begin the dreary work of rehabilitation in the devastated areas.

The party is short on man-power. Except for Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has just been elected governor of New York, there is no one in sight as a possible candidate four years hence, although other figures may develop in the meantime. Smith has said he will not run for office again.

The question of whether the south will again take command of the party or whether Smith and his friends will further alter its complexion as they did in the past campaign in the direction of making it a sort of wet ring of the republican party, is one that will be fought out before the next presidential campaign.

The south took Smith because it had no one else, and because he was deemed to have a right to a chance at the nomination in view of his record as a vote-getter in New York. The south turned on Smith and for the first time bolted the party in four states in that section.

In 1932, if the two-thirds rule is retained, it can be expected that the south will insist upon a nominee acceptable to it which Smith is not. It will not again take a candidate of whom it does not approve, so long as the two-thirds rule obtains.

The Smith forces, who will control the party machinery during the intervening four years, are likely to seek abolition of that rule in the hope of breaking the veto power of the south.

At bottom it is a question of whether the democratic party will continue essentially a hybrid of the west, industrial northern cities and the dry rural southern states, or whether it will become the urban party of the nation and gradually force a shift in the alignment of the two old parties.

While the republican party still holds the industrial interests firmly with it, Hoover has in this campaign bid for the dry vote which is strongest in rural districts. Circumstances surrounding the past campaign may

Republicans Will Hold Whip Hand in Congress

STRIKES WIFE ON HEAD WITH BILLIARD CUE AND SLAYS SELF

Pipestone, Minn., Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Mrs. J. H. Austin, 70, who was struck on the head with a billiard cue yesterday by her husband, who later committed suicide, today had regained consciousness but was still in a serious condition.

The aged woman was unable to account for the actions of her 70-year-old husband but it was believed financial difficulties had made him mentally unbalanced. After he struck his wife with the cue, Austin hanged himself in a dumbwaiter shaft.

DEMOCRATS MAY ASK RECOUNT IN MASSACHUSETTS

FRANK G. ALLEN, REPUBLICAN,
DEFEATS COLE, DEMOCRAT,
FOR GOVERNOR

THE STATE VOTES FOR SUNDAY
SPORTS, 18TH AMENDMENT
VOTE IN DOUBT

Boston, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Democratic leaders will ask a recount of the nearly 1,500,000 votes cast Tuesday in Massachusetts' gubernatorial contest, in which Frank G. Allen, republican, appeared today to have defeated Charles H. Cole, democrat, by approximately 18,000.

With only 30 out of 1,605 precincts unreported, the votes for major contests today stood:
Smith 782,144; Hoover 761,059.
Walsh 504,073; Young 681,774.
Allen 754,119; Cole 736,076.
Massachusetts went on record overwhelmingly in favor of Sunday sports. The vote on this referendum with 399 out of 1,605 precincts unreported, stood:
Yes, 578,361; no, 305,348.

A second referendum, on the question of whether congress should be asked to repeal the 18th amendment, remained in doubt.

DAUGHTERS FAIL TO PROVIDE FOR FATHER, HE DROPS DEAD

New York, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—An old man who shuffled as he walked, his clothing tattered and worn, came to the family court not long ago.

"I don't like to complain," he said, "especially about my own flesh and blood—but I'm starving and I've been sick for a long spell, too." He gave his name as William Tuerer; his age as 60.

"I've got two married daughters and they're well-fixed," he said. The daughters agreed to send $4 a week to the court cashier for their father.

Two weeks ago Tuerer shuffled to the cashier's cage. The cashier shook his head. The money hadn't been sent. Last week the scene was re-enacted.

Yesterday, scarcely able to walk, the aged man returned.

"I'm sorry," the cashier said, "but it hasn't come."

Dazed, the old man turned and took three halting steps and collapsed. He was dead.

foreshadow a political realignment in which the democrats will go after the wet cities of the north while the republicans forage into the dry rural south.

The states carried by Smith had one significant factor in common—the question of race. The southern states that voted for him all had a heavy negro population. In the past this had furnished a problem which the whites met with a united democracy. In Rhode Island and Massachusetts large foreign-born groups were pledged to Smith's support.

Explanations were in order for the one-sidedness of the election. Wall street with a heavy bull movement, indicated it expected prosperity under Hoover. Mrs. Ella Boole, president of the W. C. T. U. and William Allen White claimed prohibition was a large factor in Smith's defeat.

George W. Olvany, leader of Tammany Hall, blamed "the prosperity issue" for failure to roll up a sufficient Smith lead in New York City to carry New York state. "That issue held enough business men in line to make a difference," he said.

Mount Etna Vents Fiery Wrath on Hamlets Clustered Along the Haze of Mountain Slopes

HOOVER, SHIPSTEAD AND CHRISTIANSON PILE UP TOTALS

HOOVER'S MAJORITY OVER GOV.
SMITH MAY BE IN NEIGH-BORHOOD OF 200,000

SENATOR SHIPSTEAD'S MAJORITY
OVER NELSON MAY REACH
250,000

St. Paul, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Herbert Hoover, Senator Shipstead and Gov. Theodore Christianson, continued to pile up huge majorities over their opponents today as additional returns were made from Tuesday's election. With 3,112 of the 3,762 precincts reported in the presidential contest it became apparent that Hoover's majority over Smith would be in the neighborhood of 200,000. The count was Hoover 501,736, Smith 337,289.

Senator Shipstead, farmer-labor, whose majority over Arthur E. Nelson, his republican opponent, is expected to reach 250,000, had in 3,097 precincts 549,126, Nelson 289,328.

Governor Christianson, who headed the victorious republican state ticket received in 2,936 precincts 456,783, Andrew Nelson, democrat, 189,207; Ernest Lundeen, farmer-labor, 173,893.

Meanwhile it became increasingly obvious that the republican victors in the state contests would be carried into office by large majorities.

The fate of the two constitutional amendments appeared late today to be in the balance. Although amendment No. 1, which would divert one-third of the gasoline tax from the state highways to the county roads, gained in the rural districts it now appears unlikely that it will receive the necessary majority of the cast vote. Many persons failed to vote either for or against the amendment and such action was equivalent to a vote against the amendment.

Although amendment No. 2, the stockholders liability amendment, was more favorably received than No. 1, it was uncertain that it would get the necessary 500,000 or more votes.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Breaking of the "solid south" is a pleasing feature of an election that was the "waterloo of the liquor forces," Dr. A. J. Barton, chairman of the Anti-Saloon League's executive committee, said in a statement here today.

ARKANSAS ANTI EVOLUTION BILL SEEMS WINNER

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—The Arkansas anti-evolution bill, submitted to the voters Tuesday, apparently has won.

In 665 precincts out of 2,078 the vote today stood 31,373 for the bill and 22,956 against.

Plans already are being made for enforcing the act, which will become effective on official certification of the election.

Many of the textbooks now being used in the high schools and colleges of the state will have to be revised. Texts in biology, zoology, geology, psychology and perhaps English are expected to be changed.

TORAL TO KNOW HIS FATE SOON

MAY DIE BEFORE FIRING SQUAD
FOR ALLEGED ASSAS-SINATION

Mexico City, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Some time late today Jose De Leon Toral may know whether he is to die before a firing squad for the assassination of President-elect Alvaro Obregon.

The trial of Toral and Mother Superior Concepcion, who is accused of being the intellectual author of the killing of the former president, moved into its last stages today. Arguments were to be made before the jury.

The defense has little hope that Toral will escape the fate that most of the assassins in Mexico's turbulent history have met. Demetrio Sodi, chief counsel for the young draughtsman, said he expected the jury to return the death verdict.

He also expected the jury to receive the most serious punishment possible for her—20 years' imprisonment.

ARDENT SMITH SUPPORTER TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Newark, N. J., Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Otto Leuteritz, ardent Smith supporter, committed suicide in the factory where he worked when he learned of his favorite's defeat in the presidential election.

MOLTEN ROCK POURS DOWN FROM VOLCANO

STREAM ADVANCES 20 MILES
OVER FRONT 400 YARDS WIDE

HAS NOW REACHED POINT LESS THAN 4 MILES FROM OCEAN

Catania, Sicily, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Mount Etna, spouting forth the worst trail of destruction in its modern history, today continued to visit its fiery wrath on the hamlets clustered along the haze of its slopes.

The last three standing structures in the village of Mascali, toppled and fell before the rush of molten rock which poured down from the volcano yesterday and obliterated the town. Panic stricken inhabitants of Flumefreddo fled their homes.

The mountain spat forth fire and destruction along its steep sides and then subsided as it halted temporarily on the outskirts of Flumefreddo. Frequent convulsions intermittently sent forth great streams of lava.

Another flow of lava menaced the village of Nunziata. It had halted on the outskirts of the town, but if it continued its advance, as was expected, the river of melted rock would destroy Nunziata and also the hamlet of Carraba, which already has been evacuated.

The lava stream, which rushed through Mascali, has advanced nearly 20 miles over a front 400 yards wide. It was less than 4 miles from the ocean.

Another river of lava has entered the sea north of Riposto, sending up great clouds of steam and causing sudden explosions.

BLACK POWDER BOMB WRECKS G.O.P. QUARTERS

Chicago, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—A black powder bomb, loaded with lead shot, wrecked the front of a ward republican headquarters here today. The explosion was the second incident marring Chicago's almost perfect election day record.

Election day was unusually quiet here. No violence was reported to police on Tuesday, but yesterday a negro reported he had been tortured by henchmen of Spike O'Donnell, beer runner, who were trying to learn the whereabouts of Dingbat Oberta.

ALLEGED LOSS OF $100,000 FUNDS AT MOOSE SCHOOL

Aurora, Ill., Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Alleged embezzlement of funds of the Loyal Order of Moose school, which may run as high as $100,000, was under investigation here today.

The school was founded by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis several years ago. Harold Cook, 38, assistant controller of the school, is in the county jail at Geneva, held on bonds of $50,000.

EXPLOSION WRECKS THE PLANT OF BOX FIRM IN LYNN

FIFTEEN PERSONS WERE KILLED
BY BLAST, 11 SERIOUSLY INJURED

MOTHER AND FIVE CHILDREN
BURNED TO DEATH AFTER EXPLOSION

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Fifteen persons, including a mother and five children, were burned to death here today when a box toe factory was wrecked by a mysterious explosion.

The mother and children lost their lives when a flare of flame enveloped their nearby home. All the other victims were at work in the plant. The father and two sons, Harry, Jr. and Norman, were reported near death at Lynn hospital this afternoon.

Two other daughters, Lillian and Ella, probably escaped death only because they were going out the rear door, enroute to school, at the time of the explosion.

Scores of employees were trapped when, without warning, a chemical exploded, ignited a large quantity of celluloid, blew out the walls, and brought the roof of the Preble Box Toe factory down upon them.

There was a chance the fatality list might be increased, either through the death of some of the injured at Lynn hospital, or through discovery of more bodies in the smoldering ruins. Three employees were reported missing shortly before noon.

The blast set fire to four nearby dwellings.

The most serious explosion was followed by three smaller blasts. The heavily constructed roof of the factory was blown off and the walls collapsed.

The few employees who succeeded in escaping appeared like living torches with their clothing ablaze. Some died from their burns directly after escaping.

Hysterical women battled with police and firemen to reach the ruins to hunt for friends and relatives.

An eye witness reported the bodies of 100 men were hurled nearly 80 feet by the blast, the force of which knocked pictures from walls and dishes from shelves in houses for blocks around.

Eleven injured were rushed to the Lynn hospital.

A cigarette in the hands of a fellow workman was blamed for the explosion.

Investigators were told that a worker, in violation of factory rules, was smoking a cigarette just prior to the blast.

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 8.—All but one of 15 bodies recovered in the Preble Box Toe factory explosion had been identified shortly before noon. The death list:

Mrs. Harry Blaney.
Thelma Blaney, 13.
Arthur Blaney.
Vivian Blaney.
Helen Blaney, 7.
Harriet Blaney, 3 months.
Alfred Harris, 29.
Percy Smith.
John Wilson.
William Clements.
John Crowther, 20.
Lewis Puffer.
Everett Lewis.
Charles R. Mitchell, 22.
Joseph McCarthy, 17.

Among the more seriously injured pugilist, and Mrs. ——— Gallagher.

St. Paul, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Charles F. Metz, 102, the oldest citizen of St. Paul died today from injuries suffered in a fall a week ago. Metz who has lived here for 75 years worked in a post office station up until six years ago.

HOOVER SWEEP TOOK OUT MANY OF OPPOSITION

HOOVER TO HAVE A GREATER
MAJORITY IN CONGRESS
THAN COOLIDGE

BALANCE OF POWER IN CON-
GRESS NO LONGER WITH INSURGENTS

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Nov. 8.—Republicans will hold a definite whip hand in congress as result of the Tuesday election, United Press returns showed today.

The Hoover landslide swept aside many veteran democratic congressmen in both the senate and the house and as a result the president-elect will take office with a congress definitely aligned to his policies. He will have even a greater majority than the republican congress during the Coolidge administration.

Returns indicated the new congress would find the republicans having eight more seats in the senate and perhaps 20 more in the house than the majority they held in the last congress. This will give them a definite margin.

One chief result of this line-up will be that the balance of power no longer will rest with the republican insurgents of the mid-west. Their balance of power had been such that they could vote with the democrats to stave off republican legislation.

The Hoover landslide apparently has carried away with it many familiar figures of the senate. Senator Peter G. Gerry of Rhode Island apparently was defeated by Judge Felix Hebert.

Senator Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey was defeated by Hamilton S. Kean, his republican opponent.

Senator Thomas F. Bayard, democrat of Delaware and Senator David Bruce of Maryland, also were defeated.

There even will be a republican senator from Missouri to replace the veteran Senator James A. Reed, who has announced his retirement from politics. Roscoe C. Patterson, republican, apparently has defeated Charles M. Hay, the democratic candidate for Reed's seat.

Many of the eastern democrats were listed as wets and their defeat could be considered as strengthening the dry majority of the senate.

700 TEACHERS NOW AT MILL CITY

MINNESOTA EDUCATION ASSOCI-ATION CONVENTION IN PROGRESS

Minneapolis, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—George H. Sandberg, superintendent of schools, Rochester, today was elected president of the Minnesota Education Association at the opening of the organization's 65th annual convention in the Minneapolis auditorium.

The convention, which attracted 700 teachers and educators of the state, was formally opened this afternoon. The Rev. Francis J. McConnell, bishop of the Pittsburgh area of the Methodist Episcopal church, was the chief speaker.

Other officers elected were: Morris Bye, Thief River Falls, vice-president; W. O. Lippit, Fergus Falls, John A. Wilson, Minneapolis, members of the executive committee. Four delegates to the national convention in Atlanta next July were Miss Katherine Leonard, Moorhead Teachers' College; Miss Evalin Frible, St. Cloud Teachers' College; R. R. Sorenson, Tracy, and Miss Alice Sullivan, Duluth.

DEMOCRATS WORRIED ABOUT THEIR FUTURE

3RD SUCCESSIVE DEFEAT FOR PARTY AND ITS WORST

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Nov. 8.—This election has brought the democratic party face to face with the problem of what its future is to be.

This is the third successive defeat for the party and its worst. Returns by the United Press show Herbert Hoover with 444 electoral votes, passing even the record of Wilson who received 435, due to the republican split between Taft and Roosevelt. Smith is shown with only 87 votes, the lowest of any democratic presidential nominee and ranking next to the historic eight votes of Taft in 1912 for the consolation prize of presidential politics.

The popular vote, tabulated at 1 P. M. by the United Press showed: Hoover, 20,015,475. Smith, 14,000,138.

Hoover plurality, 6,015,337. The democratic candidate carried only eight states—Massachusetts, Rhode Island and the closely grouped southern states of Georgia, South Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas.

DEMOCRATS MAY ASK RECOUNT IN MASSACHUSETTS

DEFEATS COLE, DEMOCRAT,
FOR GOVERNOR

THE STATE VOTES FOR SUNDAY
SPORTS, 18TH AMENDMENT
VOTE IN DOUBT

Boston, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Democratic leaders will ask a recount of the nearly 1,500,000 votes cast Tuesday in Massachusetts gubernatorial contest, in which Frank G. Allen, republican, appeared today to have defeated Charles H. Cole, democrat, by approximately 18,000.

With only 30 out of 1,605 precincts unreported, the votes for major contests today stood: Smith 782,144; Hoover 761,059. Walsh 804,073; Young 681,774. Allen 754,119; Cole 736,076.

Massachusetts went on record overwhelmingly in favor of Sunday sports. The vote on this referendum with 390 out of 1,605 precincts unreported, stood:

Yes, 578,361; no, 305,348. A second referendum, on the question of whether congress should be asked to repeal the 18th amendment, remained in doubt.

St. Paul, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Herbert Hoover, Senator Shipstead and Gov. Theodore Christianson, continued to pile up huge majorities over their opponents today as additional returns were made from Tuesday's election.

With 3,112 of the 3,762 precincts reported in the presidential contest it became apparent that Hoover's majority over Smith would be in the neighborhood of 200,000. The count was Hoover 501,736, Smith 337,289. Senator Shipstead, farmer-labor, whose majority over Arthur E. Nelson, his republican opponent, is expected to reach 250,000, had in 3,097 precincts 549,126, Nelson 289,328.

Governor Christianson, who headed the victorious republican state ticket received in 2,936 precincts 456,783, Andrew Nelson, democrat, 189,207; Ernest Lundeen, farmer-labor, 173,893.

Meanwhile it became increasingly obvious that the republican victors in the state contests would be carried into office by large majorities.

The fate of the two constitutional amendments appeared late today to be in the balance. Although amendment No. 1, which would divert one-third of the gasoline tax from the state highways to the county roads, gained in the rural districts it now appears unlikely that it will receive the necessary majority of the cast vote. Many persons failed to vote either for or against the amendment and such action was equivalent to a vote against the amendment.

Although amendment No. 2, the stockholders liability amendment, was more favorably received than No. 1, it was uncertain that it would get the necessary 500,000 or more votes.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—The Arkansas anti-evolution bill, submitted to the voters Tuesday, apparently has won. In 665 precincts out of 2,078 the vote today stood 31,373 for the bill and 22,956 against.

Another flow of lava menaced the village of Nunziata. It had halted on the outskirts of the town, but if it continued its advance, as was expected, the river of melted rock would destroy Nunziata and also the hamlet of Carraba, which already has been evacuated.

The lava stream, which rushed through Mascali, has advanced nearly 20 miles over a front 400 yards wide. It was less than 4 miles from the ocean.

Another river of lava has entered the sea north of Riposto, sending up great clouds of steam and causing sudden explosions.

BLACK POWDER BOMB WRECKS G.O.P. QUARTERS

Chicago, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—A black powder bomb, loaded with lead shot, wrecked the front of a ward republican headquarters here today. The explosion was the second incident marring Chicago's almost perfect election day record.

Election day was unusually quiet here. No violence was reported to police on Tuesday, but yesterday a negro reported he had been tortured by henchmen of Spike O'Donnell, beer runner, who were trying to learn the whereabouts of Dingbat Oberta.

ALLEGED LOSS OF $100,000 FUNDS AT MOOSE SCHOOL

Aurora, Ill., Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Alleged embezzlement of funds of the Loyal Order of Moose school, which may run as high as $100,000, was under investigation here today.

The school was founded by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis several years ago. Harold Cook, 38, assistant controller of the school, is in the county jail at Geneva, held on bonds of $50,000.

EXPLOSION WRECKS THE PLANT OF BOX FIRM IN LYNN

FIFTEEN PERSONS WERE KILLED
BY BLAST, 11 SERIOUSLY
INJURED

MOTHER AND FIVE CHILDREN
BURNED TO DEATH AFTER EXPLOSION

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Fifteen persons, including a mother and five children, were burned to death here today when a box toe factory was wrecked by a mysterious explosion.

The mother and children lost their lives when a flare of flame enveloped their nearby home. All the other victims were at work in the plant. The father and two sons, Harry, Jr. and Norman, were reported near death at Lynn hospital this afternoon.

Two other daughters, Lillian and Ella, probably escaped death only because they were going out the rear door, enroute to school, at the time of the explosion.

Scores of employees were trapped when, without warning, a chemical exploded, ignited a large quantity of celluloid, blew out the walls, and brought the roof of the Preble Box Toe factory down upon them.

There was a chance the fatality list might be increased, either through the death of some of the injured at Lynn hospital, or through discovery of more bodies in the smoldering ruins. Three employees were reported missing shortly before noon.

The blast set fire to four nearby dwellings. The most serious explosion was followed by three smaller blasts. The heavily constructed roof of the factory was blown off and the walls collapsed.

The few employees who succeeded in escaping appeared like living torches with their clothing ablaze. Some died from their burns directly after escaping.

Hysterical women battled with police and firemen to reach the ruins to hunt for friends and relatives.

An eye witness reported the bodies of 100 men were hurled nearly 80 feet by the blast, the force of which knocked pictures from walls and dishes from shelves in houses for blocks around.

Eleven injured were rushed to the Lynn hospital.

A cigarette in the hands of a fellow workman was blamed for the explosion.

Investigators were told that a worker, in violation of factory rules, was smoking a cigarette just prior to the blast.

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 8.—All but one of 15 bodies recovered in the Preble Box Toe factory explosion had been identified shortly before noon. The death list:

Mrs. Harry Blaney.
Thelma Blaney, 13.
Arthur Blaney.
Vivian Blaney.
Helen Blaney, 7.
Harriet Blaney, 3 months.
Alfred Harris, 29.
Percy Smith.
John Wilson.
William Clements.
John Crowther, 26.
Lewis Puffer.
Everett Lewis.
Charles R. Mitchell, 22.
Joseph McCarthy, 17.
Among the more seriously injured pugilist, and Mrs. ——— Gallagher.

St. Paul, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Charles F. Metz, 102, the oldest citizen of St. Paul died today from injuries suffered in a fall a week ago. Metz, who has lived here for 75 years, worked in a post office station up until six years ago.

HOOVER SWEEP TOOK OUT MANY OF OPPOSITION

HOOVER TO HAVE A GREATER
MAJORITY IN CONGRESS
THAN COOLIDGE

BALANCE OF POWER IN CON-
GRESS NO LONGER WITH INSURGENTS

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Nov. 8.—Republicans will hold a definite whip hand in congress as result of the Tuesday election, United Press returns showed today.

The Hoover landslide swept aside many veteran democratic congressmen in both the senate and the house and as a result the president-elect will take office with a congress definitely aligned to his policies. He will have even a greater majority than the republican congress during the Coolidge administration.

Returns indicated the new congress would find the republicans having eight more seats in the senate and perhaps 20 more in the house than the majority they held in the last congress. This will give them a definite margin.

One chief result of this line-up will be that the balance of power no longer will rest with the republican insurgents of the mid-west. Their balance of power had been such that they could vote with the democrats to stave off republican legislation.

The Hoover landslide apparently has carried away with it many familiar figures of the senate.

Senator Peter G. Gerry of Rhode Island apparently was defeated by Judge Felix Hebert.

Senator Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey was defeated by Hamilton S. Kean, his republican opponent.

Senator Thomas F. Bayard, democrat of Delaware and Senator David Bruce of Maryland, also were defeated.

There even will be a republican senator from Missouri to replace the veteran Senator James A. Reed, who has announced his retirement from politics. Roscoe C. Patterson, republican, apparently has defeated Charles M. Hay, the democratic candidate for Reed's seat.

Many of the eastern democrats were listed as wets and their defeat could be considered as strengthening the dry majority of the senate.

700 TEACHERS NOW AT MILL CITY

MINNESOTA EDUCATION ASSOCI-ATION CONVENTION IN PROGRESS

Minneapolis, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—George H. Sandberg, superintendent of schools, Rochester, today was elected president of the Minnesota Education Association at the opening of the organization's 65th annual convention in the Minneapolis auditorium.

The convention, which attracted 700 teachers and educators of the state, was formally opened this afternoon. The Rev. Francis J. McConnell, bishop of the Pittsburgh area of the Methodist Episcopal church, was the chief speaker.

Other officers elected were: Morris Bye, Thief River Falls, vice-president; W. O. Lippitt, Fergus Falls, John A. Wilson, Minneapolis, members of the executive committee. Four delegates to the national convention in Atlanta next July were Miss Katherine Leonard, Moorhead Teachers' College; Miss Evalyn Prible, St. Cloud Teachers' College; R. R. Sorenson, Tracy, and Miss Alice Sullivan, Duluth.

N. J. WOLFSBERG, ST. OLAF INSTRUCTOR, DIES SUDDENLY

Northfield, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—N. J. Wolfsberg, 28, instructor of Norwegian at St. Olaf College, who died suddenly of heart disease here Wednesday, will be buried at 3 P. M. Friday at Dodge Center. Professor Wolfsberg received his B. A. degree in Norway. He came to St. Olaf last fall.

Calmly, as if no momentous question were in the balance, Herbert Hoover, his wife and his children sit on their lawn at Palo Alto, Calif., and receive election returns. BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

November 8, 1908

J. S. Drysdale has decided to open another photography gallery and has rented the rooms over Dykeman and Luken's grocery store on the corner of Sixth and Laurel. Mr. Drysdale does a flourishing business and with two galleries he ought to get his share of the business.

Possessing a well macadamized face, flanked with good curbing, and rejoicing in an almost unbroken line of cement sidewalk from the bridge to Third avenue, East Kindred street presents a perfectly metropolitan appearance.

Miss Elfrieda Isle entertained a party of friends last night at an informal musicale.

Cashier F. A. Farrar and Judge W. S. McClenahan have gone to Minneapolis to take some Masonic degrees.

Chief Clerk A. M. Cleaves of the M. & I. office, and J. H. Murphy returned this morning from Duluth and the Twin Cities where they spent Sunday.

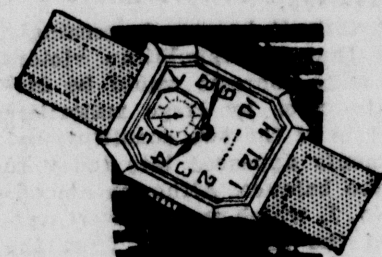

The special dinner at the Arlington yesterday attracted quite a number of Brainerd people. It is said to have been a menu par excellence and the service was all that could be desired. Messrs. Trent and Kapler expect to make a feature of their Sunday dinners in the future.

Mrs. Fraser Smith left for Lenox today where she will visit relatives for a short time.

William Wood returned yesterday from a business trip to Duluth.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George Stilwell were surprised last evening at their home, 414 South Pine street by their children, relatives and friends, the occasion being their fiftieth wedding anniversary. The evening was spent in playing cards. Mr. and Mrs. Stilwell were presented with a purse by their six children, all of whom were present, excepting John, who is in Chicago. A luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Claus and granddaughter, Jean Olson were visiting at the Franz and Fox home Sunday.

A large crowd attended the card party in the church basement Sunday evening.

There has been no school in District 16. The teacher Miss Irma Taylor is sick. She went to her home in Deerwood.

DAGGETT BROOK

Gene Scribner was a Brainerd business visitor last Friday.

The "toe social" given at the District 18 school house was well attended and all seemed to have a good time.

The Daggett Brook Farm Bureau Unit will meet again on Thursday night. We hope there will be a good attendance. A lunch will be served for which there will be a small charge.

The general election called practically every voter in Daggett Brook to the polls, there being the heaviest vote ever cast at any election.

Enoch Swanson was in town Thursday of last week.

Bert Rouse, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence

Engelhart and daughter Ruby and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. James and Mrs. Lester Hilderbrand called at the J. S. Vanderwerker home last Monday evening.

Mrs. Earl Miller and children visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Ringering Saturday.

Louie Ringering has gone to Iowa to pick corn.

George Knerr of Brainerd was at Joe Knerr's last Friday morning with his new Ford car.

TO DEAL WITH CRIME IN CHICAGO

RESPONSIBILITY FALLS ON SHOULDERS OF STATE'S ATTORNEY JOHN A. SWANSON

Chicago, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—On the broad shoulders of 54-year-old John A. Swanson has fallen the task of dealing with one of the most troublesome crime situations this country ever has known.

Swanson asked for the job—worked for it, in fact—and his friends predict that as state's attorney of Cook county (Chicago) he will succeed in wiping out the crime blot that has made Chicago notorious throughout the world.

Swanson's theory of what's wrong with this city is that an alliance exists between crime and politics, that too many politicians and public officials put themselves under obligation to beer runners and racketeers by accepting campaign contributions and testimonial dinners. Swanson hopes to break that alliance.

Under the Illinois law the state's attorney is the ranking public official in each county. In Chicago the state's attorney is without a peer in the matter of official authority. That is why the office usually is so eagerly sought.

Swanson, a six-footer with a resolute jaw, blonde hair and piercing blue eyes, feels that he is peculiarly well qualified for the job. He has been a judge for 16 years, serving in the superior, appellate and criminal courts of Cook county. He knows Illinois law and he knows Chicago and he knows gangsters.

"I shall not compromise with crime or criminals, their political friends or protectors—in or out of office," he promised in his campaign. Swanson takes office December 1.

He hopes to make that date a sort of judgment day for the machine gunners and beer lords of Chicago's underworld.

Won't Insure Talkative

Explaining why Miss Fannie Ward, the actress who lost a diamond bracelet worth $50,000, could not obtain insurance, a leading London insurance man stated that actresses are too talkative to make good risks. It is part of their business, he said, to adorn themselves with jewelry, and, being actresses, they tell everybody about it. In a few instances policies have been granted actresses at high premium rates.

THE LEISURE TIME PROBLEM

A PROBLEM, that is receiving considerable serious attention from educators and others over the country is the art of employing leisure time, says the Duluth News Tribune. It is a little difficult to treat the subject seriously, from the viewpoint of the average man, since it is traditional that the American citizen is so busy chasing dollars and making a living that he has no leisure time, and how to employ it, therefore, is of no moment to him.

The first impulse is to suggest that it would be more useful to show the ordinary citizen how to acquire sufficient of this world's goods to give him some leisure time. However, with machinery speeding up production and cutting down hours of labor, leisure time may come even to the worker who has not accumulated sufficient wealth to retire. There is much talk of the five-day week in industry, and it is more than probable that it will come in the not far distant future.

This will give a large class of people more leisure that they may or may not know how to employ profitably and with pleasure and benefit. It is also true that the average successful American who is able to achieve a life of leisure, reaches such a state in almost complete ignorance of how to use his time.

Most men are so completely "lost" when they retire from business that they quickly disintegrate. Many successful men have tried "retiring" when they still have many years of usefulness ahead of them, and most of those who haven't devoted themselves to golf or to plain pleasure seeking or travel, have either returned to business life or have had their days greatly shortened by enforced idleness.

Few men who have "gone through the mill" and succeeded have learned how to play or have acquired useful hobbies or interests outside their own business. When they achieve leisure they don't know how to use it intelligently. Leisure doesn't necessarily imply idleness or pleasure seeking. It may mean a life devoted to some useful activity of great benefit to mankind.

If the energy and intelligence of all America's retired business men could be directed into useful channels it would be an enterprise well worth while. Every man should be able to look forward to the time when he will have some leisure to pursue things that really interest him, whether it is art or music, playing golf, raising blooded stock or going fishing.

When any considerable number of citizens achieve leisure time, what to do with that time will be their problem. The solution of that problem is undoubtedly a worthy endeavor, because no man can remain happy, contented or healthy in idleness.

THE NORTHWEST EXPECTS HOOVER TO MAKE GOOD

THE Northwest looks to Herbert Hoover for fulfillment of his campaign pledges, says the Minneapolis Star.

It took at face value his promises of relief for the farmers and businessmen of this great section of the United States and on its belief in his sincerity and ability gave him its electoral votes.

He promised to consecrate himself to labor for the welfare of the people as a whole.

He promised to devote his energy and talent to obtaining not only relief for the farmer but measures that would put him on a financial parity with the prosperous businesses of the country.

He promised the speedy development of the upper Mississippi river.

He promised to make every effort to push through the opening of the St. Lawrence waterway to the sea.

He promised action on discriminatory freight rates.

He promised that his energies would be devoted to improving the economic conditions of the working people to the end that there may be not only a job at good wages for every man who wants to work but a closer approach to a situation where poverty is no longer a specter in any normal home.

The people of the Northwest will not forget that Herbert Hoover laid down this course of action for himself in sober and solemn pronouncements in the course of the campaign.

They will look to him for accomplishment.

HORNSBY IS WORLD'S HIGHEST PRICED BASEBALL PLAYER

TRANSFERRED TO CHICAGO CUBS BY BOSTON BRAVES

JUST ONE MORE REPUTATION FOR PREMIER BATSMAN OF NATIONAL LEAGUE

5 PLAYERS AND UNNAMED SUM USED IN THE NEGOTIATIONS

By DIXON STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Nov. 8.—Rogers Hornsby today had become the world's highest priced baseball player through his transfer to the Chicago Cubs from the Boston Braves.

It is just one more reputation for the premier batsman of the National League but the Chicago Cubs are proud that they gave the most money, and money value in players, that ever has been given for a baseball player.

President William Veeck of the Cubs, announced last night that Hornsby had been obtained in exchange for five players and an unnamed sum, the "highest consideration ever given." The five players are Freddy Maguire, second baseman; Percy Jones, left handed pitcher; Louis Leggett, catcher; Harry Siebold, pitcher, and Bruce Cunningham.

There is little question but that the total of cash and players will represent close to the $300,000 mark, exceeding by $200,000 the money given for Babe Ruth.

In addition the Cubs must assume Hornsby's three years' contract which is reputed to call for a salary payment of $40,000 annually.

"We are getting Hornsby because he will bolster the Cubs with his hitting ability," Veeck said.

Hornsby will make the Cubs one of the strongest teams in the league. With Kiki Kuyler, Hack Wilson and Stephenson, the Rajah will make the Cub batting list one to be feared.

This trade gives Hornsby his third affiliation in three years. In 1925 he managed the St. Louis Cardinals to a world series victory—as dramatic a series as has been played.

Hornsby was traded to the Giants after getting into difficulties with the St. Louis management, after the series. He spent the year as assistant to McGraw but at the end of the season unexpectedly was traded to Boston.

Just what happened to bring on the sale still remains a mystery. One story is that Hornsby's management of the Giants while McGraw was ill didn't suit the Giant chief.

With the Braves he again assumed National League batting honors, but as manager could lift the team no higher than seventh place.

"Go out and get Hornsby if money will do it," was Wrigley's order at the close of last season.

Boston, Nov. 8.—Affirming the sale of Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Boston Braves, to the Chicago Cubs, Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the Braves, said today that he would resume the management of the team.

Fuchs said that the Hornsby trade had been arranged at Hornsby's suggestion and that he left the club "with the goodwill of my associates and myself."

LAST FOOTBALL GAME OF SEASON FOR LOCALS POSTPONED TO HOLIDAY

Axel Nelson, reserve guard was lost to the Brainerd high school football squad for the remainder of the season through an injury Tuesday afternoon during scrimmage between the first and the second teams in preparation for the game with Crosby-Ironton, last game of the season for the locals.

The date of the game with C-I has been changed to Monday afternoon in place of Saturday afternoon to permit those having a holiday on Monday to witness the game.

The clash will start at 3 P. M. at the Crosby field.

Wise's injured finger was slow in improving this week, making it impossible for him to do much work with the ball.

Remaining players on the team were in good shape today, Coach Kasch reported.

The men will be put through daily drill to place them at their best for the Monday game.

KEEP BACTERIA OUT MILK FAIL

"To produce milk that is consistently low in bacteria demands first, proper cooling, and second, cleanliness of the things with which the milk comes in contact," said Prof. J. D. Brew of the Cornell dairy department at Ithaca, speaking on meeting bacteria requirements in sanitary milk.

"An occasional high count may be traced to a cow that gives milk abnormally high in bacteria. The number of bacteria in milk should be as low as possible consistent with economy of production, with sanitary significance, and with uncontrollable variations in making estimates of numbers of bacteria.

"The bacterial content of milk, instead of being a fixed characteristic, is too highly variable to justify its being used as a basis for placing milk in grades.

"The number of bacteria in milk is merely an index of the care that any particular lot of milk has received, and the mere difference of a numerical limit of 100,000 for one grade and 300,000 for another has no demonstrable sanitary significance. It should be borne in mind that the purpose of sanitary control is to eliminate carelessly-handled milk.

"If the bacterial content of any given milk supply is repeatedly high, the explanation is invariably to be found in improper handling."

Metal Waste Menace to Valuable Dairy Cattle

When pastures grow short and dry, dairy cattle often graze along the fence rows around discarded machinery setting in the dry lot and other places which they would not have noticed otherwise, writes G. A. Williams of Purdue university. It often happens that bits of wire, old bolts and other forms of metal waste are taken into the digestive tract. Such material frequently proves fatal.

Once these foreign bodies pass into the paunch they are apt to pierce the lining of the stomach. The internal organs induce movement which may be in the direction of some vital organ. Although it is possible to operate and remove the source of danger in some cases, this always is risky. Prevention is better than cure.

Every effort should be taken to avoid the accumulation of such rubbish. There is plenty of it around the farm. Some dairymen are more tolerant toward it than others. If receptacles are provided at convenient places around the barn lot and along the lane-punch of this dangerous refuse can be collected with little extra labor. It may save the life of a good cow or heifer.

Cows Differ 51 Cents Daily in Their Yields

Differences as great as 51 cents a day in the returns which different Illinois dairy cows pay their owners over and above the cost of feed have been discovered by J. H. Brock of the University of Illinois, in summarizing the records of 4,920 cows tested for milk and butterfat production the last year. Those cows in the highest producing group each averaged 493.1 pounds of fat for the year and returned their owners $213 above the cost of feed, or 58 cents a day a cow. In contrast, cows in the lowest producing group had an average of only 121.4 pounds of butterfat to their credit and paid returns, over and above the cost of feed, of only $26.07 each. In other words, they returned just 7 cents a day to be used in defraying other expenses of production, such as labor, interest on investment, building and equipment cost and other miscellaneous items. A third class of cows about midway between the best and the poorest ones averaged 297.6 pounds of butterfat for the year and returned $113.13 more than their feed cost for the year, or about 31 cents a day.

Shows Speed of Airplane

The instrument used to indicate the air speed of an airplane is commonly called a "pitot tube." The air passes through this tube across an opening in one side and in so doing builds up air pressure on one side of the diaphragm and creates a vacuum in the other. This uneven force operates a pointer on a dial and indicates the air speed.

RED CROSS FIGHTS DEATH AND DISEASE

Four Nation-wide Services Promote Health Preservation and Accident Prevention.

A nation-wide program for preservation of health and prevention of accidental death is one of the great services of the American Red Cross. Four bureaus, manned by experts, direct this work. They are the Public Health Nursing Service; the First Aid and Life Saving Service; the Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick Service, and the Nutrition Service.

These services aim at preservation of health through skilled nursing care; prevention of loss of life in accidents; prevention of illness, through cleanliness in the home and knowledge of methods of care of the sick; and raising the standard of physical efficiency through proper eating.

This nation-wide campaign against disease and accidental death is conducted through a majority of the 3,532 chapters of the Red Cross. It is a community campaign, fitted to the health problems of each section.

The Red Cross, through its chapters, is the largest employer of trained Public Health nurses in rural work in the United States. In its campaign for preservation of health, and prevention of disease it has aided in establishing 2,000 or more community nursing services.

At the national headquarters an enrollment of nurses is maintained, which forms a great nursing reserve. Under its Charter from Congress this Red Cross Nursing Service is the official reserve for the United States Army and Navy Nurse Corps. In addition, these nurses are available in time of disaster or epidemic. This reserve list of trained nurses has in 1928 reached its peak in number enrolled—there being now 47,000 nurses qualified under Red Cross regulations who may be mobilized in time of emergency.

The comprehensive, nation-wide program of instruction in First Aid and Life Saving maintained by the Red Cross is in answer to the appalling total of accidental deaths each year in the United States.

In its First Aid instruction among firemen and police forces, in factories, railroad centers, great industries, and public utilities, the Red Cross annual reaches more than 160,000 men and women, whom it teaches to be alert, ready in case of accident, to apply first aid treatment.

The campaign against accidental deaths through drowning has been carried throughout the country, and there now are 173,566 men and women boys and girls, qualified as Red Cross swimmers.

'Round the Country

By QUIN HALL.
NOWADAYS a lot of fellows have to go out and find a place for their racket—racket being the present accepted phrase for the way some guys grab their living. A good tennis player, however, like his racket with him and in the ancient Richards has swathed his tools of trade in cotton flannel wrappers and is on an extended tour of the West with Karl Kozeluh, the crack court worker from Czechoslovakia.

Vinny and Karel put on a lot of matches in and around New York before starting on their long trek across the country and they played to good gates considering the fact that tennis hasn't as yet started the natives into digging into their change pockets and running for the turnstiles every time they see a match advertised. "Cash and Carry" Pyle tried to bailhuo tennis into the big money, but even with such an attraction as the Great Suzanne it wasn't the howling success that the fellow who backed the Bunion Derby figured that it would be.

Richards and Kozeluh put on a hot brand of tennis and those who are attracted to the various matches scheduled about the Winter are almost sure to cash in on a few thrills per game even if they haven't been in the habit of getting their thrills out of love games or love sets.

Richards is a former Davis Cup star, and was considered one of the world's greatest amateur players three years ago, before he joined the pro ranks. Since that time his game has improved steadily, and the manner in which he played the Czech in their final match before leaving the East, led the experts to believe that today he is an even greater player than Henri Cochet, the Frenchman, who won the national singles championship recently.

Kozeluh is as colorful as a Ziegfeld Follies setting when the glories of the game goes in for his best tint splashing. Not being able to speak the American language to any great extent, the Czech has mastered the pronunciation and the meaning of "whoopie," and uses it occasionally after a good shot. Karel hasn't fully mastered playing on turf courts, and he is not backward about taking off his rubber-soled shoes and playing in woolen socks. In fact, during one game since his arrival he even yanked off the socks and played in his bare feet, and it's things like that that make guys colorful in these here new United States. The incident brought a lot of snickers from the bleachers that afternoon, but it indicated that the Czech wasn't going to be overly modest if it interfered with his game.

The actual title of world's professional tennis champion seems to be rather muddled up at the present time. It apparently rests between Richards and Kozeluh. While Kozeluh has shown himself to be the master in their clay court matches, Richards has shown himself distinctly the better man on the turf surface.

So there you are. It might be well to refer to Karel as the clay court champion and Vincent might well be satisfied with the turf surface title. However, their tour through the West may decide the question definitely and one of them may have a firm grip on a real far-reaching title before the dandelions come up in the Spring—or the violets, for that matter.

In the meantime, the tennis fans in the U. S. still think pretty well of Richards' ability and probably the Czechoslovakian fans are still willing to wager their Czechoslovakian coin on Kozeluh's chances—but fortunately, perhaps, it's too far away to get down a bet.

HORNSBY IS WORLD'S HIGHEST PRICED BASEBALL PLAYER

TRANSFERRED TO CHICAGO CUBS BY BOSTON BRAVES

JUST ONE MORE REPUTATION FOR PREMIER BATSMAN OF NATIONAL LEAGUE

5 PLAYERS AND UNNAMED SUM
USED IN THE NEGOTIA-TIONS

By DIXON STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Nov. 8.—Rogers Hornsby today had become the world's highest priced baseball player through his transfer to the Chicago Cubs from the Boston Braves.

It is just one more reputation for the premier batsman of the National League but the Chicago Cubs are proud that they gave the most money, and money value in players, that ever has been given for a baseball player.

President William Veeck of the Cubs, announced last night that Hornsby had been obtained in exchange for five players and an unnamed sum, the "highest consideration ever given." The five players are Freddy Maguire, second baseman; Percy Jones, left handed pitcher; Louis Leggett, catcher; Harry Siebold, pitcher, and Bruce Cunningham.

There is little question but that the total of cash and players will represent close to the $300,000 mark, exceeding by $200,000 the money given for Babe Ruth.

In addition the Cubs must assume Hornsby's three years' contract which is reputed to call for a salary payment of $40,000 annually.

"We are getting Hornsby because he will bolster the Cubs with his hitting ability," Veeck said.

Hornsby will make the Cubs one of the strongest teams in the league. With Kiki Kuyler, Hack Wilson and Stephenson, the Rajah will make the Cub batting list one to be feared.

This trade gives Hornsby his third affiliation in three years. In 1926 he managed the St. Louis Cardinals to a world series victory—as dramatic a series as has been played.

Hornsby was traded to the Giants after getting into difficulties with the St. Louis management, after the series. He spent the year as assistant to McGraw but at the end of the season unexpectedly was traded to Boston.

Just what happened to bring on the sale still remains a mystery. One story is that Hornsby's management of the Giants while McGraw was ill didn't suit the Giant chief.

With the Braves he again assumed National League batting honors, but as manager could lift the team no higher than seventh place.

"Go out and get Hornsby if money will do it," was Wrigley's order at the close of last season.

Boston, Nov. 8.—Affirming the sale of Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Boston Braves, to the Chicago Cubs, Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the Braves, said today that he would resume the management of the team.

Fuchs said that the Hornsby trade had been arranged at Hornsby's suggestion and that he left the club "with the goodwill of my associates and myself."

The number of bacteria in milk should be as low as possible consistent with economy of production, with sanitary significance, and with uncontrollable variations in making estimates of numbers of bacteria.

"The bacterial content of milk, instead of being a fixed characteristic, is too highly variable to justify its being used as a basis for placing milk in grades.

"The number of bacteria in milk is merely an index of the care that any particular lot of milk has received, and the mere difference of a numerical limit of 100,000 for one grade and 500,000 for another has no demonstrable sanitary significance. It should be borne in mind that the purpose of sanitary control is to eliminate carelessly-handled milk.

"If the bacterial content of any given milk supply is repeatedly high, the explanation is invariably to be found in improper handling."

Metal Waste Menace to Valuable Dairy Cattle

When pastures grow short and dry, dairy cattle often graze along the fence rows around discarded machinery setting in the dry lot and other places which they would not have noticed otherwise, writes G. A. Williams of Purdue university. It often happens that bits of wire, old bolts and other forms of metal waste are taken into the digestive tract. Such material frequently proves fatal.

Once these foreign bodies pass into the paunch they are apt to pierce the lining of the stomach. The internal organs induce movement which may be in the direction of some vital organ. Although it is possible to operate and remove the source of danger in some cases, this always is risky. Prevention is better than cure.

Every effort should be taken to avoid the accumulation of such rubbish. There is plenty of it around the farm. Some dairymen are more tolerant toward it than others. If receptacles are provided at convenient places around the barn lot and along the lane which of this dangerous refuse can be collected with little extra labor. It may save the life of a good cow or heifer.

Cows Differ 51 Cents Daily in Their Yields

Differences as great as 51 cents a day in the returns which different Illinois dairy cows pay their owners over and above the cost of feed have been discovered by J. H. Brock of the University of Illinois, in summarizing the records of 4,920 cows tested for milk and butterfat production the last year.

Those cows in the highest producing group each averaged 493.1 pounds of fat for the year and returned their owners $213 above the cost of feed, or 58 cents a day a cow. In contrast, cows in the lowest producing group had an average of only 121.4 pounds of butterfat to their credit and paid returns, over and above the cost of feed, of only $26.07 each. In other words, they returned just 7 cents a day to be used in defraying other expenses of production, such as labor, interest on investment, building and equipment cost and other miscellaneous items. A third class of cows about midway between the best and the poorest ones averaged 297.6 pounds of butterfat for the year and returned $113.13 more than their feed cost for the year, or about 31 cents a day.

Shows Speed of Airplane

The instrument used to indicate the air speed of an airplane is commonly called a "pilot tube." The air passes through this tube across an opening in one side and in so doing builds up air pressure on one side of the diaphragm and creates a vacuum in the other. This uneven force operates a pointer on a dial and indicates the air speed.

RED CROSS FIGHTS DEATH AND DISEASE

Four Nation-wide Services Promote Health Preservation and Accident Prevention.

A nation-wide program for preservation of health and prevention of accidental death is one of the great services of the American Red Cross. Four bureaus, manned by experts, direct this work. They are the Public Health Nursing Service; the First Aid and Life Saving Service; the Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick Service, and the Nutrition Service.

These services aim at preservation of health through skilled nursing care; prevention of loss of life in accidents; prevention of illness, through cleanliness in the home and knowledge of methods of care of the sick; and raising the standard of physical efficiency through proper eating.

This nation-wide campaign against disease and accidental death is conducted through a majority of the 3,532 chapters of the Red Cross. It is a community campaign, fitted to the health problems of each section.

The Red Cross, through its chapters, is the largest employer of trained Public Health nurses in rural work in the United States. In its campaign for preservation of health, and prevention of disease it has aided in establishing 2,000 or more community nursing services.

At the national headquarters an enrollment of nurses is maintained, which forms a great nursing reserve under its charter from Congress this Red Cross Nursing Service is the official reserve for the United States Army and Navy Nurse Corps. In addition, these nurses are available in time of disaster or epidemic. This reserve list of trained nurses has in 1928 reached its peak in number enrolled—there being now 47,000 nurses qualified under Red Cross regulations who may be mobilized in time of emergency.

The comprehensive, nation-wide program of instruction in First Aid and Life Saving maintained by the Red Cross is in answer to the appalling total of accidental deaths each year in the United States.

In its First Aid instruction among firemen and police forces, in factories, railroad centers, great industries, and public utilities, the Red Cross annual ly reaches more than 160,000 men and women, whom it teaches to be alert, ready in case of accident, to apply first aid treatment.

The campaign against accidental deaths through drowning has been carried throughout the country, and there now are 173,566 men and women, boys and girls, qualified as Red Cross lifeguards.

The pines are still pointed out.

'Round the Country

By QUIN HALL.

NOWADAYS a lot of fellows have to go out and find a place for their racket—racket being the present accepted phrase for the way some guys grab their living. A good tennis player, however, like Vinny Richards has swathed his tools of trade in cotton flannel wrappings and is on an extended tour of the West with Karl Kozeluh, the crack court worker from Czechoslovakia.

Vinny and Karl put on a lot of matches in and around New York before starting on their long trek across the country and they played to good gates considering the fact that tennis hasn't as yet started the natives into digging into their change pockets and running for the turnstiles every time they see a match advertised. "Cash and Carry" Pyle tried to bullyhoop tennis into the big money but even with such an attraction as the Great Suzanne it wasn't the howling success that the fellow who backed the Bunion Derby figured that it would be.

Richards and Kozeluh put on a hot brand of tennis and those who are attracted to the various matches scheduled about the Winter are almost sure to cash in on a few thrills per game even if they haven't been in the habit of getting their thrills out of love games or love sets.

Richards is a former Davis Cup star, and was considered one of the world's greatest amateur players three years ago, before he joined the pro ranks. Since that time his game has improved steadily, and the manner in which he played the Czech in their final match before leaving the East, led the experts to believe that today he is an even greater player than Henri Cochet, the Frenchman, who won the national singles championship recently.

Kozeluh is as colorful as a Ziegfeld Follies setting when the glories of the game goes in for his best tint splashing. Not being able to speak the American language to any great extent, the Czech has mastered the pronunciation and the meaning of "whoopie," and uses it occasionally after a good shot. Karl hasn't fully mastered playing on turf courts, and he is not backward about taking off his rubber-soled shoes and playing in woolen socks. In fact, during one game since his arrival he even yanked off the socks and played in his bare feet, and it's thin like that that make guys colorful in these here now United States. The incident brought a lot of snickers from the bleachers that afternoon, but it indicated that the Czech wasn't going to be overly modest if it interfered with his game.

The actual title of world's professional tennis champion seems to be rather muddled up at the present time. It apparently rests between Richards and Kozeluh. While Kozeluh has shown himself to be the master in their clay court matches, Richards has shown himself distinctly the better man on the turf surface.

So there you are. It might be well to refer to Karl as the clay court champion and Vincent might well be satisfied with the turf surface title. However, their tour through the West may decide the question definitely and one of them may have a firm grip on a real far-reaching title before the dandelions come up in the Spring—or the violets, for that matter.

In the meantime, the tennis fans in the U. S. still think pretty well of Richards' ability and probably the Czechoslovakian fans are still willing to wager their Czechoslovakian coin on Kozeluh's chances—but fortunately, perhaps, it's too far away to get down a bet.

GOVERNOR SMITH, HAPPY WARRIOR, LOOKING FOR JOB

NO TRACE OF DISAPPOINTMENT
EVIDENT AS HE RETURNS TO ALBANY

THERE HE HAS SERVED VOTERS
OF NEW YORK 4 TIMES AS GOVERNOR

By MAX BUCKINGHAM
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Nov. 8. — Graduated from his 25-year school of politics, Gov. Alfred E. Smith started today on the course all graduates must take—that of looking for a job.

There was no trace of disappointment about the governor as he started packing up this morning preparatory to returning to Albany where for four terms he has served the voters of New York state. He seemed as eager as almost any school boy to find his job.

What the job will be depends on "the boss," Mrs. Smith, the former Katie Dunn, who has followed him in all the vicissitudes and glories that have led him from East Side New York obscurity to becoming a candidate—albeit unsuccessful—for the nation's highest office.

The governor and Mrs. Smith will return this afternoon to Albany where for a few months Smith will continue at the head of the New York state government until his friend and successor, Franklin D. Roosevelt, is inaugurated.

Then it will be back to his beloved New York City that the defeated democratic nominee will turn.

The governor is not a wealthy man. His long service to the American people has precluded his amassing a fortune to retire on. There fore New York soon is to see the former presidential candidate the oretically doffing his derby hat in the outer office of some concern, asking that he be employed.

Naturally there are many places open to Smith. One report said he would become chairman of a new $55,000,000 banking corporation of which John J. Raskob, the democratic national chairman, will be interested. This was denied by some of the backers of the new bank.

The "happy warrior" continued happy today. Many of the weary creases that had appeared in his jovial face in the last days of the campaign had disappeared. His cigar was tilted at a typically Smithian angle. His voice radiated good humor.

He seemed to reflect on the joke he thought of yesterday—that only one man ever drew a greater popular vote for the presidency—and that was Herbert Hoover.

New York, Nov. 8.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith is through with politics, he announced late yesterday.

"I certainly don't expect to run for public office again," he said. "I couldn't stand any more of it. I have given the best years of my life to it and I have no regrets."

Smith said he would always retain his interest in public affairs, but was definite in his statement that he never again would be a candidate for office.

Off-Flavored Milk Due to Lack of Air and Sun

Guard against off-flavors in milk during the cold weather when barns are closed and conditions congested, warns R. G. Connelly, extension specialist in dairying at the New Jersey State Agricultural college.

Milk has the absorbing qualities of a sponge, so that wherever foreign odors exist near milk, it will have an off-flavor highly distasteful to the consumer.

Such defects may be traced usually to one of three sources. First, faulty barn ventilation which may allow gases and odors to accumulate. Then there is the matter of feeding. Good hay and grain ordinarily do not produce abnormal flavors in milk, but turnips, cabbages, potatoes, and certain weeds will make milk very repulsive to some consumers. The best plan is to feed after milking rather than before. Finally milk becomes contaminated from foreign odors when it is stored or handled in places where fruits, vegetables, oil, gasoline, or other materials emitting strong odors, are stored. Proper ventilation and exposure to sunlight will help, but it is better to remove the offending object.

Reduce Cost Production and Other Dairy Losses

Analyzing the reasons for the relatively good organization and management of the dairy industry, Dr. A. F. Woods of the United States Department of Agriculture finds the following three of particular importance:

(1) Fertility largely goes back to the land through the manure. Feeds purchased in part probably add more fertility than is sold in dairy products; (2) the monthly milk check is useful if not entirely remunerative; (3) everybody on the dairy farm works the year round. Though the pay may be small it gradually accumulates.

"The dairy farm and the dairy family," said Doctor Woods in addressing a group of Ohio dairymen recently, "gradually become richer—not too rich nor perhaps rich enough, but improving all the time. This is true even though modern bookkeeping methods show a paper loss, based on going wages and sale values. These economic studies of the dairy industry have pointed out ways to reduce costs of production and other sources of loss and thus increase the margin of net profit."

Spirit "Fake"

Primitive natives in Sumatra believe that the spirit of a dead tribesman returns a few months after death for one last night of celebration with his friends, and magicians help along the belief by manipulating a wooden dummy on strings in the semidarkness.

Matter of Climate

The best shoemakers' brushes are produced by pigs that inhabit cold countries. Formerly most of them came from Russia, but now China and the United States are supplying a large part of the market.

Honeymoon Is Over

Fifty years ago E. W. Howe wrote: "When a bridegroom finds all the clothes he owns hung one over the other on a hook behind the door, he realizes for the first time that the honeymoon is over."

Reduce Cost Production and Other Dairy Losses

Analyzing the reasons for the relatively good organization and management of the dairy industry, Dr. A. F. Woods of the United States Department of Agriculture finds the following three of particular importance:

(1) Fertility largely goes back to the land through the manure. Feeds purchased in part probably add more fertility than is sold in dairy products; (2) the monthly milk check is useful if not entirely remunerative; (3) everybody on the dairy farm works the year round. Though the pay may be small it gradually accumulates.

"The dairy farm and the dairy family," said Doctor Woods in addressing a group of Ohio dairymen recently, "gradually become richer—not too rich nor perhaps rich enough, but improving all the time. This is true even though modern bookkeeping methods show a paper loss, based on going wages and sale values. These economic studies of the dairy industry have pointed out ways to reduce costs of production and other sources of loss and thus increase the margin of net profit."

ESDON

A. E. Thayer and son-in-law Geo. Jensen and family, formerly residents of Leader, Cass county, have established residence on the Gergen place, south of the ESDON school. This community is glad to welcome them.

The ladies aid will meet on Thursday, November 8, with Mrs. Joe Pointon of the Nokay Lake neighborhood.

Harold L. Stafford of Route 1, Deerwood, endorsed by the National Radio Institute, Washington, D. C., is passing around cards, advertising his ability to doctor radios. If you need anyone give him a chance to demonstrate.

The Halloween social at the ESDON school house on Wednesday evening was a success, socially and financially. A fine program was rendered and enjoyed by a large crowd. On Friday evening Miss Pearl Sander of District 26 announced that she would have a social.

The ESDON Sunday school expects to continue sessions until Christmas, at least. A great deal of interest is manifested, as shown by the fine attendance.

THE COOLIDGES RETURN HOME TO VOTE

President Coolidge and the First Lady as they visited the polls to cast votes for Herbert Hoover at the Chief Executive's adopted home, Northampton, Mass. While there Mrs. Coolidge was able to see her mother, Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, who has been ill in the hospital since March.

BRING ACTION IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Matt Myers Asks $6,000 Damages
From Harry O'Brien,
Defendant

IN DISTRICT COURT

Five Arraigned on Charges of Sale of Intoxicating
Liquor

An accident case which happened on highway No. 19 near the Gull Lake road on May 30, 1928 was being tried in district court before Judge Edward Freeman today.

Matt Myers, represented by Attorney Donald I. Ryan is asking $6,000 damages. Harry O'Brien, defendant is represented by Attorney Lamonte P. Koop.

Myers asserts that his car was struck in the rear by the O'Brien car and that his car was wrecked and his wife injured.

Elmer Olds, Swatara, entered a plea of guilty this morning to the charge of grand larceny in the second degree, the theft of a watch. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or 30 days in jail. Execution of sentence was stayed for 60 days.

Richard Viers, of Garrison, charged with breaking into a summer cottage on Mille Lacs Lake and stealing property entered a plea of guilty. Sentence will be imposed after the criminal cases have been disposed of. Another boy who was implicated with Viers in the break in was brought before juvenile court and has been sent to Red Wing.

Louis Bedore, charged with sale of liquor on August 29 entered a plea of guilty. He will be sentenced later.

Hans Hanson entered a plea of guilty to the charge of sale of intoxicating liquor and was sentenced to pay a fine of $150 and 30 days in the county jail.

Josephine Zokotnik, of Trommald, pleaded guilty to the charge of sale of liquor. Sentence will be imposed later.

Boy Scout Who Sounded Bugle at Lowell School Injured on Third Avenue N. E.

Robert Jackson, 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jackson, 704 North 7th street, was injured although not seriously Tuesday evening at 9:10 o'clock on Third Avenue N. E. while returning home on his bicycle from the Lowell school where he had sounded the bugle as part of the boy scout program on election day at the polls.

The youth was struck by an approaching car, the driver of which being unable to see him until he was near him, there being no light on the bicycle. The boy was feeling better today but unable yet to walk on his bruised leg.

Raskob to Stick to Post of Chairman
Democratic Committee

New York, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—John J. Raskob, the financier who made his first acquaintance with national politics in the campaign just ended, intends to stick to his post as chairman of the democratic national committee.

"I do not think it would be fair to the party for me to retire from the chairmanship at the present juncture," he said. "I was elected for four years."

Raskob's business plans for the immediate future remain undecided, he said, but he will not resume his former office as finance chairman of the General Motors corporation.

Raskob said he was at a complete loss to account for the republican landslide.

LINCOLN P. T. A. MEET

Report of P. T. A. Convention at St. Cloud Given by Mrs. F. E. Little

The Lincoln P. T. A. held a very successful meeting Wednesday night, November 7. The meeting opened with community singing directed by Mrs. Louis F. Hohman. A very interesting program followed.

Mrs. A. A. Steinfeldt reported on the membership drive, 98 members being reported and more expected. Mrs. F. E. Little gave an excellent report of the P. T. A. convention held at St. Cloud. The expenses of the delegates were ordered paid. Two new flags given by the W. R. C. were accepted and that organization was accorded sincere gratitude. The matter of pupils staying home to work, contrary to the state law, was discussed. The ratio of underweight children in the Lincoln school was found to be 15%. Miss Eula Michael, Mrs. R. H. Paine and Miss Alta Franklin were asked to act on this committee. The floating picture went to Miss I. Lowey.

A bill of $18, child welfare dues, was ordered to be paid to Miss Rebecca Castle.

Peaks of Desire

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

JERRY DUNN, star reporter on a large newspaper, covers a garden fete given by Spencer Hayden, a millionaire. There he meets Ann Tremaine, debutante daughter of a wealthy banker, who is engaged to marry Hector Richards, whom she does not love. She becomes interested in Dunn and pretends she is a poor girl who has crashed the party. Dunn rails against the idle rich and his ideas stir Ann. She confesses she belongs to the class he hates and Dunn is shocked, but admits he could fall in love with her if they belonged to the same social group. When she returns home that night Dunn reappears. He asks her to give up the worthless life she is leading and make her way in the world. She promises to leave home and goes in to pack her bags.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER X.

WHEN she reappeared on the porch Ann had two small, smart bags; she wore a narrow tailed suit of blue and a trim little turban was on her head.

"We'll just about have time to make it before they get home," she said.

She told herself that she was not running off with Jerry Dunn. He had simply caught her when she was ripe; he had only shown her the way to do something that had been a vast yearning in her own heart.

His drive and his insistent support had been a powerful tonic, though. He hadn't led her into anything, but she had borrowed his energy; maybe they were both a little peculiar. Ann was twenty—old enough to know that she couldn't be happy on the ceaseless round of the younger generation stuff her own particular crowd was going in for.

Those in that crowd weren't fast—they were stupid. All that idiotic wriggling they called dancing, the gin cocktails and atrocious Scotch; the necking and the hot stories that were stale from too much repetition. If there had been a kick in any of it, things might have been different. Most of them seemed to adore the life, but she, Ann Tremaine, didn't. That, she supposed, made her different—peculiar. She didn't know exactly what she did want out of life, but it wasn't that!

She wondered if there had been too much rebellion in the note she had pinned to her mother's pillow. It would be a shock to them, she supposed. . . . get it right out of your dear heads in the beginning that I've gone dippy or anything like that. . . . don't try to find me, just trust me for a while. . . . this isn't any silly love affair. . . . I'm trying to work out a problem in living and I'll tell you all about it later on. . . . I'm in dead earnest and I'm going to see it through. . . . there's nothing scandalous or tragic about it and

I don't want any detectives looking for me, please. . . . it's best to slip off this way to save the wear and tear on all our emotions. . . ."

A little note for Hector Richards left with the engagement ring, both to be delivered by her mother: "It's all off. . . . we wouldn't either of us be happy together. . . . the worst turn I could do you would be to marry you because, honestly, I'm not your kind. . . ."

Everything had been ridiculous—easy once she got started; as simple as turning the page of a magazine.

Jerry Dunn, carrying her bags, led her several blocks to a street car. "We won't sit together, but you watch me and get off when I do." They attracted a little attention as possible to themselves.

The part of town was new to Ann; it was a district of apartment houses and once fashionable homes now converted into boarding and rooming houses; she had been to Europe with her parents and had stayed at the best hotels, but this was as all new and thrilling to her as—China.

"I live here," said Jerry Dunn as he put down her bags and found his latch key. "And so," he added, "do you, now."

The house was narrow-fronted with a meager grass plot separating it from the public sidewalk. The entrance door was painted white and an electric lamp burned in the hall. From above them came the faint sound of someone playing a piano ever so softly; a door opened and there was momentarily the sound of voices.

"It's Saturday night—that's why they're awake so late," he explained.

Ann stood hesitant in the hall while he picked up her luggage; he told her to go right on up the stairs ahead of him. Her faith in him was complete, but, even so, it was a little drain on her courage. In her knees a slight insecurity reminded her that she was not as sure of herself as she had been at the Spencer Hayden's—or at home.

There was an odor in the house—the odor of human beings, a number of them living under one roof. A warm, living evidence of people. Something alive in the air. It was not unpleasant. Ann made the discovery that she liked it. . . . that some friendly atmosphere permeated the place. . . .

They turned into the hall on the second floor and Jerry Dunn led her to a door at the front of the house where he tapped softly. From within came the faint squeak of springs, the soft, heavy movement of someone across the floor.

"Good evening, Mrs. Yager. Here's somebody I've brought for that empty room. This is Mrs. Yager, the proprietor, Miss—"

He hesitated for a fragment of a second. What they had both forgotten was that she would need an alibi. An alibi—heavens! She would need a whole new character! Ann Tremaine, the banker's daughter, wouldn't fit in here in her own proper person. It would take a bit of inventing, but Jerry Dunn's mind was agile.

"This is Miss Mary Lynch," he told the landlady.

A large woman, Mrs. Yager; voluminous and common, and she had been reclining on a sofa with a rye bread sandwich in one hand and a battered book in the other. She had put aside the sandwich, but she retained the book; Ann could not escape seeing the title emblazoned across the cover—Fortune Telling With Cards.

"Come right in," said Mrs. Yager. She smoothed at her hair, chestnut streaked with gray; her face was large and she had a mole on her chin. "Steve said he was lonesome, so he went out and bought some sandwiches down at the corner."

For the first time Ann saw Steve. Mrs. Yager's bulk had obscured him before.

He didn't get up, but that was because of shyness and ignorance. . . . all she saw was that he was one of the huskiest, most virile young men on earth.

And his blue eyes were looking at her as though he saw a vision.

"Hello, old kid," Jerry said familiarly to him. "Come here and meet Miss Lynch—Mr. Harrison."

The shy-looking young giant came up to his feet, affably bashful. He put out his hand and it felt to Ann's softness as tough, as calloused, as the sole of a shoe. She had never felt a hand like that before. . . . never before had she felt such a twisting, stabbing shock in her breast at the sheer magnetism of a man's touch.

LITTLE GLITTERING CAPLIKE HATS SMART FOR DINNER AND THEATER

IF IN the social whirl, regardless of how many other hats one may possess, an evening cap of velvet or maline, glittering with sequins and metal embroidery, should be added to the collection. These adorable bits of headwear should fit as snugly as possible. The Paris-inspired model at the center of this group tells the story better than words.

To wear with these beguiling little theater and dinner caps, milliners are designing fascinating scarfs and shawls, the latter being formed of the same sheer velvet as the hat, elaborated with sparkling motifs to match. With the new bespangled net or chiffon cocktail jackets which are the sensation of the hour among evening modes, these wee glittering caps are most fetching.

If one care not for fashions so extreme, there are other headed and metal embroidered cap-toques of more conservative type. The beauty of these dressy velvet snug-fitting hats is that they are absolutely collapsible, which is an advantage in more ways than one. Then, too, they are that varied and flattering in contour, becomingness is assured for every type face.

There is no doubt about the return of the dressy hat, as the ornate headgear in the picture bears witness. Each of these beguiling models is of velvet. While, as before mentioned the cap centered in this group is designed for evening wear, the other three are smartly adaptable to dressy daytime occasion.

Note the flattering bonnetlike lines of the velvet cap-toque to the left above. It is embellished with satin-finished oblong beads and metallic thread.

A very conservative type which times to any occasion is shown at the top of the group. It is patterned with gold stitchery. The ostrich brush right side trim expresses a smart fashion note.

The cunning model pictured last interlocks gold braiding with rows of gold sequins.

Another item of keen interest is the tight-fitting metal tricot cap, which Paris has launched so successfully. These are draped with very little trimming.

Still another beguiling fantasy is the evening cap fashioned of pastel crepe that is embroidered in tiny opaque beads, exactly matched in color.

BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE

In the District Court of the United States, for the District of Minnesota. In the Matter of Fay Wood, Bankrupt, in Bankruptcy No. 3618.

To the Honorable William A. Cant, Judge of the District Court of the United States, for the District of Minnesota: Fay Wood, of Crosby, in the County of Crow Wing, and State of Minnesota, in said District, respectfully represents: That on the 21st day of February, last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the Acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property and has fully complied with all the requirements of said Acts and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

WHEREFORE HE PRAYS that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said Bankruptcy Acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 16th day of February, A. D. 1928.

FAY WOOD, Bankrupt.

Order of Notice Thereon

United States of America, District of Minnesota, ss.

On this 16th day of February, A. D. 1928, on reading the foregoing petition, it is ORDERED BY THE COURT, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 15th day of December, A. D. 1928, before said Court, at Duluth, in said District, at ten o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in The Brainerd Dispatch, a newspaper printed at Brainerd in said District, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the Court, that the Clerk shall send by mail, upon payment by the bankrupt, or his attorney, of the actual expense thereof, to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

WITNESS the Honorable WILLIAM A. CANT, Judge of said Court, and the seal thereof, at Duluth, in said District, on the 16th day of February, A. D. 1928.

HALF MILLION PEOPLE AIDED BY RED CROSS IN HURRICANE RELIEF

Porto Rico and Florida Victims
Helped by Prompt Action;
$5,000,000 Given by Public.

One of the greatest disasters, in point of loss of life and devastation of homes, in which the American Red Cross has ever carried relief was the West Indies hurricane of September last, which swept across Porto Rico, parts of the Virgin Islands, the coast of Florida and north to end in torrential rains, flooding streams to a half dozen states. The known dead in all of the areas affected was 2,259, although it was admitted that the complete total of dead in Florida would never be known. The number of injured was estimated at 3,170. Approximately 20,000 buildings were destroyed and damaged.

At the height of the emergency the Red Cross was caring for 506,410 people—that is, feeding and clothing them and arranging for whatever shelter was obtainable. As long as three weeks after the hurricane struck Porto Rico and Florida the Red Cross was aiding 20,236 people who were sick of these 238 in Florida and the remainder in Porto Rico, where influenza and malaria were being treated to prevent epidemics of more drastic diseases. Large numbers of Red Cross nurses were active at both points.

Peaks of Desire

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

JERRY DUNN, star reporter on a large newspaper, covers a garden fete given by Spencer Hayden, a millionaire. There he meets Ann Tremaine, debutante daughter of a wealthy banker, who is engaged to marry Hector Richards, whom she does not love. She becomes interested in Dunn and pretends she is a poor girl who has crashed the party. Dunn rails against the idle rich and his ideas stir Ann. She confesses she belongs to the class he hates and Dunn is shocked, but admits he could fall in love with her if they belonged to the same social group. When she returns home that night Dunn reappears. He asks her to give up the worthless life she is leading and make her way in the world. She promises to leave home and goes in to pack her bags.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER X.

WHEN she reappeared on the porch Ann had two small, smart bags; she wore a narrow tailed suit of blue and a trim little turban was on her head.

"We'll just about have time to make it before they get home," she said.

She told herself that she was not running off with Jerry Dunn. He had simply caught her when she was ripe; he had only shown her the way to do something that had been a vast yearning in her own heart.

His drive and his insistent support had been a powerful tonic, though. He hadn't led her into anything, but she had borrowed his energy; maybe they were both a little peculiar. Ann was twenty—old enough to know that she wouldn't be happy on the ceaseless round of the younger generation stuff her own particular crowd was going in for.

Those in that crowd weren't fast—they were stupid. All that idiotic wriggling they called dancing, the gin cocktails and atrocious Scotch; the necking and the hot stories that were stale from too much repetition. If there had been a kick in any of it, things might have been different. Most of them seemed to adore the life, but she, Ann Tremaine, didn't. That, she supposed, made her different—peculiar. She didn't know exactly what she did want out of life, but it wasn't that!

She wondered if there had been too much rebellion in the note she had pinned to her mother's pillow. It would be a shock to them, she supposed. . . . get it right out of your dear heads in the morning that I've gone dippy or anything like that. . . . don't try to. And me, just trust me for a while. . . . this isn't any silly love affair. . . . I'm trying to work out a problem in living and I'll tell you all about it later on. . . . I'm in dead earnest and I'm going to see it through. . . . there's nothing scandalous or tragic about it and

I don't want any detectives looking for me, I assure you. . . . it's best to slip off the way to save the wear and tear on all our emotions. . . ."

A little note for Hector Richards left with the engagement ring, both to be delivered by her mother. "It's all off. . . . we wouldn't either of us be happy together. . . . the worst turn I could do you would be to marry you because, honestly, I'm not your kind. . . ."

Everything had been ridiculously easy once she got started; as simple as turning the page of a magazine.

Jerry Dunn, carrying her bags, led her several blocks to a street car. "We won't sit together, but you watch me and get off when I do." They attracted as little attention as possible to themselves. The part of town was new to Ann; it was a district of apartment houses and once fashionable homes now converted into boarding and rooming houses; she had been to Europe with her parents and had stayed at the best hotels, but this was as all as new and thrilling to her as—China.

"I live here," said Jerry Dunn as he put down her bags and found his latch key. "And so," he added, "do you, now."

The house was narrow-fronted with a meager grass plot separating it from the public sidewalk. The entrance door was painted white and an electric lamp burned the faint sound of someone playing a piano ever so softly; a door opened and there was momentarily the sound of voices.

"It's Saturday night—that's why they're awake so late," he explained.

Ann stood hesitant in the hall while he picked up her luggage; he told her to go right on up the stairs ahead of him. Her faith in him was complete, but, even so, it was a little drain on her courage. In her knees a slight insecurity reminded her that she was not as sure of herself as she had been at the Spencer Hayden's—or at home.

There was an odor in the house—the odor of human beings, a number of them living under one roof. A warm, living evidence of people. Something alive in the air. It was not unpleasant. Ann made the discovery that she liked it. . . . that some friendly atmosphere permeated the place. . . .

They turned into the hall on the second floor and Jerry Dunn led her to a door at the front of the house where he tapped softly. From within came the faint squeak of springs, the soft, heavy movement of someone across the floor.

"Good evening, Mrs. Yager. Here's somebody I've brought for that empty room. This is Mrs. Yager, the proprietor, Miss."

He hesitated for a fragment of a second. What they had both forgotten was that she would need an alibi. An alibi—what? She would need a whole new character! Ann Tremaine, the banker's daughter, wouldn't fit in here in her own proper person. It would take a bit of inventing, but Jerry Dunn's mind was agile.

The shy-looking young giant came up to his feet, affably bashful. He put out his hand and it felt to Ann's softness as tough, as calloused, as the sole of a shoe. BANKRUPT PETITION FOR DISCHARGE

In the District Court of the United States, for the District of Minnesota. In the Matter of Fay Wood, Bankrupt, in Bankruptcy No. 3618.

To the Honorable William A. Cant, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the District of Minnesota: Fay Wood, of Crosby, in the County of Crow Wing, and State of Minnesota, in said District, respectfully represents: That on the 21st day of February, last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the Acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property and has fully complied with all the requirements of said Acts and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

WHEREFORE HE PRAYS that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said Bankruptcy Acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 15th day of February, A. D. 1923.

FAY WOOD, Bankrupt.

Order of Notice Thereon

United States of America, District of Minnesota, ss. On this 15th day of February, A. D. 1923, on reading the foregoing petition, it is ORDERED BY THE COURT, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 15th day of December, A. D. 1923, before said Court, at Duluth, in said district, at ten o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in The Brainerd Dispatch, a newspaper printed at Brainerd in said District, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the Court, that the Clerk shall send by mail, upon payment by the bankrupt, or his attorney, of the actual expense thereof, to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

WITNESS the Honorable WILLIAM A. CANT, Judge of said Court, and the seal thereof, at Duluth, in said District, on the 15th day of February, A. D. 1923.

JOEL M. DICKEY, Clerk. By CHELL M. SMITH, Deputy Clerk.

HALF MILLION PEOPLE AIDED BY RED CROSS IN HURRICANE RELIEF

Porto Rico and Florida Victims Helped by Prompt Action; $5,000,000 Given by Public.

One of the greatest disasters, in point of loss of life and devastation of homes, in which the American Red Cross has ever carried relief was the West Indies hurricane of September last, which swept across Porto Rico, parts of the Virgin Islands the coast of Florida and north to end in torrential rains, flooding streams in a half dozen states. The known dead in all of the areas affected was 2,259 although it was admitted that the complete total of dead in Florida would never be known. The number of injured was estimated at 3,170. Approximately 20,000 buildings were destroyed and damaged.

At the height of the emergency the Red Cross was caring for 506,410 people—that is, feeding and clothing them and arranging for whatever shelter was obtainable. As long as three weeks after the hurricane struck Porto Rico and Florida the Red Cross was aiding 20,236 people who were sick of these 236 in Florida and the remainder in Porto Rico, where influenza and malaria were being treated to prevent epidemics of more drastic diseases. Large numbers of Red Cross nurses were active at both points.

In Florida more than 11,000 persons applied to Red Cross for assistance, and a great number of people in Florida and also in Porto Rico still were being cared for in the matter of food, clothing and shelter as long as two months after the hurricane, while they awaited maturing crops which would enable them to again become self sustaining.
